OFFICE OF VICTIM ADVOCATE

Victims of crime in Pennsylvania have rights, as well as standards of service they can expect to receive. These standards help guarantee that victims are provided with information, practical and emotional support, and are able to participate fully in the criminal justice system. They were created to ensure that victims are treated with dignity and respect at all times, regardless of their gender, age, marital status, race, ethnic origin, sexual orientation, disability or religion.

Crime victims rights are provided by several different entities, which may include a state or local law enforcement agency, the prosecutor's office, local correctional facility, PA Department of Corrections, PA Parole Board, a juvenile probation office, victim service agencies, and/or the PA Department of Public Welfare.

If you believe your rights were not provided according to the previously noted standards, you may file a complaint by completing the enclosed form and returning it to the PA Office of Victim Advocate. OVA will review your complaint and a staff member may contact you.

Currently in PA, there are no legal remedies to address the denial of your rights or standards of service. However, all complaints are taken seriously and are thoroughly reviewed. It is the goal of OVA to use information provided to seek correction of the hardship you suffered, when possible. Examples of rights violations will also be used to educate victim service providers, helping to ensure that crime victims are afforded all rights available to them under the law.

Please note that the primary purpose of this process is to educate service providers on upholding crime victims' rights. Filing a complaint cannot guarantee that a resolution will occur in your case. OVA will review your concerns internally, address them to the best of our ability, and utilize information gathered to improve existing serves throughout the Commonwealth.
